Field Testing

We bring the equipment and expertise you need to your test site. Laboratory testing is critical for qualifying products and processes, but there is no substitute for field evaluation to ensure that the installed product meets expectations.

Field evaluation demands knowledgeable, correctly equipped crews to do the job even when presented with unanticipated challenges. Molimo arrives at your site with the tools, materials, specialized instruments, and experience required to deliver accurate results in any situation.

Project timelines are ever-changing and demand schedule flexibility. Molimo understands the nature of these projects and is always willing to do what it takes to accommodate the needs of our customers.

Field evaluation is not limited to new construction. Existing buildings can benefit from testing to identify problems and formulate a solution. Molimo is ready to go anywhere as needs arise—our technicians travel domestically and internationally to provide testing. Bring capability and experience to your job site by choosing Molimo.

Molimo is a company built on experience. Together we exceed 350 years of expertise in the building products testing industry. We prioritize accuracy, speed, and integrity.
